Exclusions Policy

Introduction

At Sutton C of E School, we believe that it is essential for everybody to create a caring, supportive and positive ethos and environment for all. Children and adults thrive in a calm and purposeful learning community that respects and values every individual. We believe strongly that an emotionally literate school with a clear ethos and policy of positive behaviour management helps support the social and emotional aspects of learning and behaviour patterns of our children and staff. Our school will exclude when children behave badly and disrupt teaching in order to help preserve the right to education of the other pupils. The school will follow the most recent Local Authority guidance on exclusions.

Key points for exclusions

- Only the head teacher can exclude a pupil.
- Fixed term exclusions can be for half a day or more, on 1 or more occasion with a maximum of 45 days in a school year.
- If behaviour is an issue at lunchtime then pupils can be excluded from the site during this period.
- The behaviour of pupils outside of the school can be considered grounds for exclusion with reference to the school behaviour policy.
- If pupils are excluded and sent home for poor behaviour, it will be marked on the register as an "E".
- Suitable work to do at home will be provided for a child who has been excluded for more than 5 days, under a fixed term exclusion. In the case of a permanent exclusion, arranging suitable full-time education is the duty of the local authority area where the pupil lives.
- Looked After pupils should have provision from the first day of any exclusion.
- If a pupil is fixed term excluded for more than 5 days the head teacher is responsible for their full time education from the 6th consecutive day.
- Excluded pupils will be encouraged to participate in all stages of the exclusion process, where appropriate, taking into account their age and understanding.
- The decision to exclude a pupil permanently should only be taken in response to serious or persistent breaches of the school's behaviour policy and/or allowing the pupil to remain in school would seriously harm the education or welfare of the pupil or others in the school.
- Parents have the right to dispute the decision to exclude.
- Where an excluded pupil is of compulsory school age the head teacher will notify the parents in writing that for the first five days of an exclusion, the parent is legally required to ensure that their child is not present in a public place during school hours without reasonable justification and that the parent may be prosecuted or given a fixed penalty notice if they fail to do so.
- For pupils in Primary Schools who are permanently excluded, the Local Authority becomes responsible for the full time education from the 6th day.

Exclusion of Vulnerable Pupils

The head teacher will, as far as possible, avoid excluding permanently any pupil with an EHCP or a Looked after Child. If the head teacher is considering the permanent exclusion of a pupil in one of these categories, they will discuss it with the local authority, highlighting their concerns about the placement of the pupil in the school and the possible need for additional support or an alternative placement.

The Duty of the Head Teacher

Once the head teacher makes the decision to exclude the pupil, the parent will be informed as soon as possible. This will be followed up with a letter.

The head teacher will then notify the governing body and the local authority if:

- it is a permanent exclusion (including any decision to make a fixed term exclusion permanent);
- an exclusion for more than five school days (or more than ten lunchtimes) in any one term;
- any exclusion which results in the pupil missing a National Curriculum Test (SATs)

For all other exclusions the head teacher will notify the local authority and the governing body once a term.

The head teacher will decide if a reintegration meeting is necessary following the period of exclusion. If it is, we will make reasonable efforts to arrange the meeting for a time that is convenient for parents and give notice of the time, date and location. The pupil would normally attend for at least part of the interview, depending on their age and understanding.

Parents – Challenging Exclusions

The letter sent to parents following the exclusion will notify them what to do if they disagree with the decision. Parents can ask the school's governing body to overturn the exclusion if either:

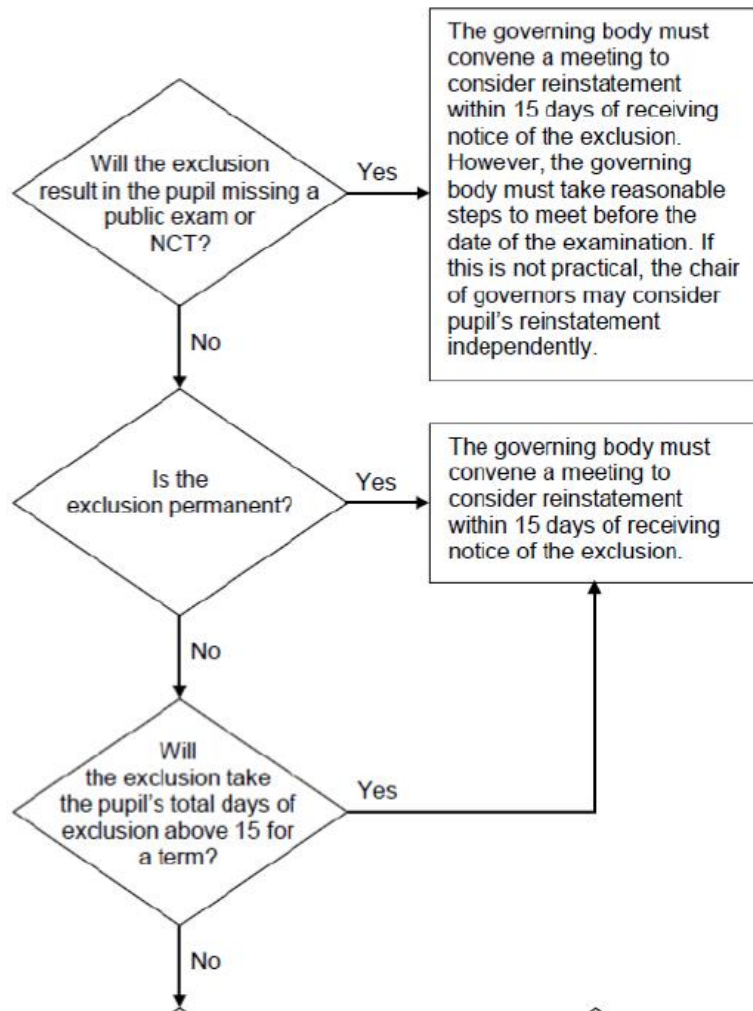

- the pupil has been excluded for more than 5 days
- the exclusion means they'll miss a national curriculum test

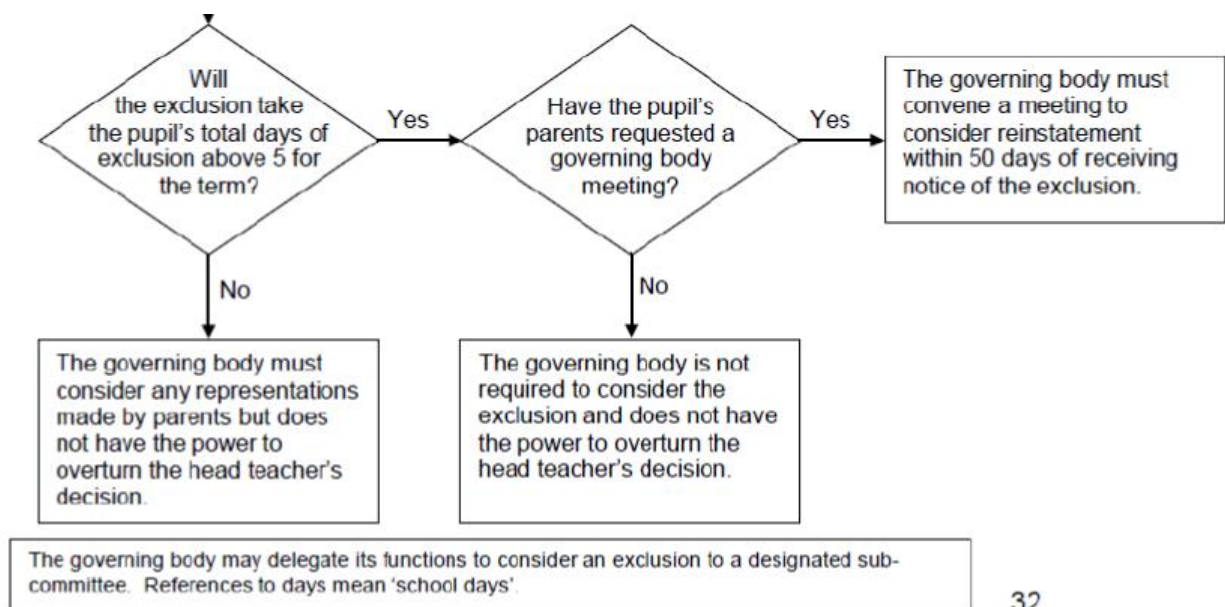

The parents will be invited to a meeting with a panel of 3 school governors within 15 school days. Where exclusion would result in a pupil missing a public examination or National Curriculum Test, there is a further requirement for a governing board. It must, so far as is reasonably practicable consider the exclusion before the date of the examination or test. If this is not practical, the chair of governors may consider a pupil's reinstatement alone. If the governors don't overturn the exclusion, parents can ask for an independent review via the LA. The governors will inform parents of this process.

If the exclusion is for 5 days or fewer, Parents can still ask the governing body to hear their views but the governors can't overturn the head teacher's decision. See Annex A below.

COVID-19 UPDATE

Changes to this guidance come into force on 1 June 2020 and will apply to all exclusions occurring from then until 24 September 2020 (inclusive of those dates).

The new regulations change some of the procedures that must be followed in relation to an exclusion, to give greater flexibility to schools, parents and local authorities during the coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak. They apply to all maintained schools, academies (including alternative provision academies but excluding 16 to 19 academies) and pupil referral units (PRUs).

The normal arrangements and procedures that must follow a decision to exclude on disciplinary grounds are described in the 2017 statutory guidance 'Exclusion from maintained schools, academies and pupil referral units in England' and our policy is based on this guidance.

The changes during the pandemic, up to and including 24th September 2020 can be found in the guidance referenced below:
